

OFFICIALS AT SEA IN BEXLEY MYSTERY CASE

Twelve Days of Investigation Net Little Results.

QUESTION PASTOR

No Further Light on Two-Week-Old Mystery of Bexley, Columbus, Ohio, Suburb.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29.—Six and a half hours of questioning of the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, husband of Addie Sheatsley, Bexley furnace mystery victim, and his two sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence, 16, yesterday resulted in "not a single divergence" from previous statements of the trio, county prosecutor, John R. King, announced last night.

We gained nothing which might be of any value in clearing up the case," the prosecutor said.

The practically cremated body of Mrs. Sheatsley was discovered in the furnace of the parsonage of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church, in the fashionable Bexley district, 12 days ago.

Efforts of authorities to ascertain how her body came to be there have been to no avail.

Brownish crimson stains on some articles found in the home during a search, last Monday are not splashes of human blood as was first thought. Mr. King said to-night following receipt of a report from Dr. H. M. Brundage, a pathologist and chemist C. F. Long. All the stains have been analyzed, Mr. King said.

COLUMBUS, O. Nov. 29. (AP)—County prosecutor King following a conference with his aides who are endeavoring to solve the mysterious death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, whose cremated body was found in a furnace, declared to-day that every clue to date had been run down.

Investigation has been thorough and complete without success. Officials are awaiting the finding of the scientific experts who are conducting experiments with guinea pigs in an effort to determine whether the victim was alive when the body was placed in the furnace.

GET-RICH PONZI IS IN BOSTON

Famous Bunko Man Lands in Bean City—Arrested by United States Immigration Officials.

BOSTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Charles Ponzi, promoter and famous get-rich scheme artist of four years ago, was arrested today by immigration authorities on a warrant charging illegal entrance into the United States.

Deportation proceedings was commenced immediately before Immigration Commissioner Johnson. If charges are sustained, the question of whether to deport Ponzi to Canada or Italy can only be decided by the Secretary of Labor.

Ponzi came here after alleged banking irregularities in Montreal but if Canadian authorities object to his being returned to that country, officials in the United States may order his return to Italy. A warrant against Ponzi was obtained after several days' investigation of his activities during the past twenty years.

MAKE PLANS FOR COMMUNITY SING

To Be Held Tuesday Night at 8:00 O'clock in High School Auditorium.

On Tuesday night, December 2nd, at 8:00 in the High School Auditorium all Middlesboro people will be given an opportunity to participate in what will be the forerunner of many delightful evenings for music lovers. This get together meeting is to be known as a community sing.

It is conducted under the auspices of the Playground and Recreation Association in cooperation with the Choral Society. It promises to be one of the finest entertainments of its kind ever held in Middlesboro. Elaborate preparations have been made and a splendid musical program is in store. The Choral Society needs no introduction and a high class of music can be expected from them. They will render several well known selections which they have been preparing under the direction of Professor Carr.

The high school quartette which has been doing such splendid work will also sing several numbers. Professor Surman will close the program with a violin selection. Group singing by the audience will complete the evening's pleasures.

Community singing received great impetus during the war when the boys "over there" sang to keep up the morale of the army. All cities are adopting community singing. Outdoor singings are held in localities during the summer months and when the weather becomes too cold they are conducted indoors.

Every one likes to sing, even those who believe they can not. It is hoped the sing will be well attended and that it will be possible to hold many more meetings of this meeting.

Graphic Records of War in Big Demand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Although six years have elapsed since the termination of the World War, innumerable former service men, their relatives and friends make frequent requests on the war department for graphic records of the struggle. These are contained in the files of the photographic section of the signal corps of the army.

Often a mother, with but a slender clue to where her son was killed in combat, beseeches the signal corps section for a photograph of the scene of the engagement or incidents surrounding his life "over there." The chances for granting her request are of the best, for the army has stored away 100,000 photographs of the war. They are cross-indexed and readily accessible, and the pictures are sold at cost to those that desire them.

The original negatives of photographs and of motion picture films are retained in fire proof vaults at Washington barracks here. Only duplicates from these are utilized. The films are sent out and shown in different corps areas.

The work of preserving outstanding events in the life of the army by means of the camera is still going forward. Photographic laboratories are maintained in many army corps areas, and in Hawaii. Twenty-four enlisted men of the signal corps are assigned to photographic duties throughout the service.

This phase of army activity had its inception in the work of a photographer, Brady, who made and collected photographs during the Civil War. This collection, totaling more than 6,000 plates, was later acquired by the war department and is now preserved by the signal corps.

New Wage Agreement Proves Costly

SWANSEA, Nov. 29. (AP)—Welsh coal owners lost $2,966,455 on an output of 11,354,668 tons of coal during the three months ended August 1st, because of the new wage agreement recently signed, according to Finlay Gibson, secretary of the South Wales Coal Owners' Association.

The coal trade has gone "from bad to worse," and the new wage agreement has been accompanied by the cost of production being increased from 17 pence to 37 pence per ton, he declared.

PUNISH PLOTTERS EXTENT OF LAW

Sentences Aggregating 177 Years Were Imposed Upon Roundout Plotters.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Prison sentences aggregating 177 years, the limit of legal punishment was imposed upon William Fahr, former post office inspector and James Murray, local politician, who were convicted of plotting the mail train robbery at Rondout.

The judge however stipulated that the sentences run concurrently so that the maximum of the actual sentence was about 25 years.

Canadian Farmers Plant Many Trees

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 29. (AP)—Trees at the rate of 20,000 a day have been planted by farmers of western Canada in the last 20 years, according to a report of the department of agriculture.

A total of 150,000,000 young trees, the report shows, have been distributed free to farmers in that section since 1906. Early maturing varieties suited to climatic conditions were supplied.

The government's tree planting campaign was planned to transform the landscape of the prairie provinces.

SHOULD ENFORCE LAWS AS WRITTEN

Appellate Court Rules That the Court Should Not Judicially Amend the Statutes.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 29. (AP)—The court should not judicially amend the statutes, the Court of Appeals has decided, in an opinion by Commissioner Drury, reversing a Harrison Circuit court judgment.

"The better plan is, when a law is plain and constitutional, to enforce it just as written, and to let the legislature have the responsibility for the result," he declared.

The court upheld section 68a, subsection 5, of the statutes, providing that the owner of a dog inflicting damage is liable although the dog is rabid.

The court must not write into the statute an exception which the legislature did not make, and can only enforce it as written, the opinion decided.

About fifteen sections of the statutes, four acts, six sections of the civil code, two sections of the constitution, and eight sections of the criminal code have been cited and construed by the appellate court, meeting today, since reconvening in full term.

An oral agreement of a sheriff candidate to appoint one, aiding him in his election, deputy sheriff for his term of four years was within the meaning of section 470, subsection 7, of the statutes, the court decided in affirming the Trimble Circuit Court in opinion of Chief Justice Sampson.

Where it is a matter of doubt "in the opinion of the court in which of two or more counties an offense is committed, the court of either in which the indictment is found has jurisdiction of the offense," Commissioner Sandridge declared, construing section 1140 of the statutes. "The presumption is that the trail court knew its jurisdiction and that the trial was had in the proper county," he decided, writing the court's affirmation of a Powell Circuit court liquor case judgment.

The property of another need not be insured or covered by lien to make its unlawful burning arson within the meaning of section 1103 of the statutes, the court held. Judge Thomas writing, affirming a Kenton Circuit court judgment.

Confidence Game and Larceny Charged In Chicago Court.

THREE NEW BILLS

Illinois Grandjurors Vote True Indictments Against Man Who Defrauded His Relatives.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—While a brother of the accused who is a member of the grand jury, sat outside the door, the November grand jury today voted three new true bills against Leo Korte, whose friends and relatives invested millions in his oil schemes and who is now under arrest at Halifax. A few minutes after the true bills were voted, the indictments were returned in court.

Three persons who invested money in Korte's schemes made the complaints on which the new indictments, charging confidence game and larceny by bailment, were based. The new indictments, State Attorney R. E. Crowe said, will increase Korte's bonds to $100,000, and make possible additional trials in case Korte is acquitted at the first hearing.

Ferdinand Korte, a real estate operator and member of the grand jury, took part in its deliberations on the case of his brother.

Officials of the Chicago Title and Trust company which has charge of Korte's tangled financial affairs were notified today that $70,000 which Korte had placed in a safety deposit vault at Liverpool, N. C., had been recovered. Company officials said they believed the money was intended by Korte for use for a trip to South America.

SING PRAISES OF YOUR OWN STATE

It Is This Sort of Advertising That Placed California On The Map, and in Public Eye.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 29. (AP)—So declares the principal statement in the Kentucky Road Builder's official magazine of the department of state roads and highways, edited by Joe S. Boggs, state highway engineer, in its latest issue it reads:

"Everybody in Kentucky who has any pep and ambition should boom the state to beat the band. We should shout our own praises from the house top. We should let the world know that we are not only on the map but a large and important part of it and that we are going to be a much bigger part some day."

"This is the sort of advertising that has put California in the front of states. California folks will modestly tell you that it is the greatest state on earth. They really believe that and the first thing you know they had everybody else believing it, too. Faith moves the mountains, you know."

"Kentucky men had women have known as the most clannish in the world, not even 'excepting' the Scotch. California has always been regarded as a state that never believed in giving an imitation of the modest violet. If they imitate any sort of flower it is the sunflower, that brazen beauty of the garden that lets the world know it is there."

"Well, how about Kentucky? This state has it all over California—a little bit more. It has advantages that California would give a new hat to have. Then why not say so? Let's get one of those sky writers to fly straight up into the space and write on the sky, so that all may read, these words: 'Kentucky is the world's best.'"

In another editorial, it is declared:

Egyptian Situation Is Serious But Is Not Critical.

MUTINY IS QUELLED

Soudanese Platoons Surrender After Hospital Attack—No Trouble Among the Egyptian Troops.

CAIRO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Surviving mutineers at Khartoum surrendered to the British it was officially announced today. The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the Eleventh Soudanese Infantry and the mutineers, who survived surrendered after the bombardment of the British army hospital. Two British officers were killed and eight privates were wounded.

Telegraph lines between Khartoum and Halfaya were cut and temporary interruption occurred yesterday but were restored early this afternoon. Cairo is quiet and public services and business in general are proceeding along normal lines.

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Egyptian situation is described in official circles today as serious but not considered critical. Interest in government circles centers in the Sudan which appears to have been restored to normalcy.

CAIRO, Nov. 29. (AP)—It is understood here that the Egyptian troops in the Sudan are giving no trouble to the British and that the mutiny at Khartoum yesterday, in which one British and two Syrian physicians were killed was limited to about two hundred men of the eleventh Soudanese regiment, among whom there were severe casualties when British troops fired upon them. The remainder of the Soudanese battalion aided the British in overpowering the mutineers.

No undue alarm, it is said, need be felt regarding the situation at Khartoum, but it is not known just what the exact status there is as the telegraph lines are cut.

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The news from Egypt was less reassuring yesterday, but still in the opinion of the authorities it should not be considered alarming. The precautionary process of arresting nationalist leaders in Egypt whose possible activities are considered dangerous to the maintenance of order, continued today when a large number of deputies and other prominent persons were placed under safekeeping.

These arrested appeared to be mainly men connected with the organization of former Premier Zagloul Pasha, and it is reported that some of them were engaged in plots against the lives of Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, the high commissioner, and others. It is said the Egyptian government itself now is responsible for the business of internment of persons of the dangerous element, who include some of the student leaders.

The student activities, which appeared to have ceased upon Zagloul's advice to refrain from agitation, have broken out afresh and seem likely to form the center for attracting nationalist efforts throughout the whole country against the British government's demands upon Egypt. Nothing, however, is yet available to test the possible strength of such agitation.

It is stated that the British authorities now will leave measures for the maintenance of order and preventing demonstrations to the Egyptian government and that they will not themselves attempt to place on trial any suspected persons.

The most alarming news today came from the Sudan where there was a mutiny among a small body of Soudanese troops which resulted in some loss of life. Details of this trouble still are obscure; but it is believed the disorder is not likely to spread. It is not clear if the mutiny is directly related to the present Egyptian crisis or if it is a recurrence of the old trouble in the Sudan.

The Soudanese army consisted of

REPORT BUSINESS CONDITIONS GOOD

Ordering of Holiday Goods in All Lines Was Reported As Satisfactory.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 29. (AP)—Steady growth in industrial activity, renewed confidence in the immediate outlook for trade, and advancing commodity prices, continued strength in the banking and financial situation, heavy distribution of merchandise, enormous freight loadings and generally auspicious conditions for fall crops and farm operations were among the factors favorably affecting general business in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, including Kentucky, says the November report issued today.

"While the disposition to cautious buying continues among both merchants and ultimate consumers," says the report, "there was a perceptible relaxation on the part of the farmer from the recent pull to purchase only for immediate requirements."

Initial ordering of holiday goods in virtually all lines was reported satisfactory and orders for spring delivery were on a larger scale than heretofore.

Production in a number of the basic industries recaptured expending gains over the month before, according to the report.

A feature of the employment situation noted was the sustained activity in building operations, the mild weather having permitted all sorts of outdoor work, including highway and river improvement operations to be carried further into the season than usual. This has resulted in a heavy call for common labor, the report says, and skilled artisans in the building trades are well employed. The demand for help on farms was well sustained, particularly in the South, where harvesting of the cotton, tobacco and rice crops was being completed. Not much change was reported in the coal mining areas, but full employment was the lead and zinc fields.

Changes in crop conditions in the district were in the direction of betterment. As during the preceding thirty days, cereal prices fluctuated broadly, but the trend was upward. The principal developments in the banking and financial situation, according to the report, were a somewhat better demand for funds from general sources, a sharp gain in deposits of commercial banks, further good liquidation in the rural sections and a slightly stronger trend in interest rates. The improved inquiry for credits, however, has not been sufficient to absorb the loanable resources of the commercial banks.

Mature Mothers Bear Male Children

DRESDEN, Germany, Nov. 29.—That the age of mother has an important relation to the sex of the child is asserted by Doctor Fetscher of this city, who has made this topic the subject of special studies. He found that mothers up to 25 years gave birth to just as many boys as girls. With the mothers between 25 and 30 years, the ratio of boys to girls was 111 to 100, while mothers of 35 and more years gave birth to 124 boys and 100 girls.

The exact cause of the phenomenon of the sudden increase of boys born as compared to girls, in the years after the war has not yet been ascertained.

Do your Christmas shopping early of course you won't do it, but any way it's a timely warning.

GUNS FLASH; TONG WARSMAN DIES

Ah Sing Receives Police Orders Politely and Continues to Shoot.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Despite a police announcement that tong warfare must cease Tom Hong, Hip Sing member, was fatally shot while in his Brooklyn laundry last night by an unidentified Chinese who escaped. Hong was the fourth New York victim since the country wide tong hostilities yesterday.

Tong warfare claimed another victim tonight in Gong Sing, a Brooklyn laundryman, shot and probably fatally wounded by two Chinese gunmen who escaped in a closed automobile driven by a Chinese chauffeur.

The shooting of Sing, who was a cousin of Gong Chong Food, as suspected in a Bronx laundry a few hours before the tongmen's armistice expired, was the second attack within 24 hours attributed to the feud between the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs. It was preceded by the slaying to death of Cook Un as he slept in a Chinatown tenement.

Charles Gong Sing, 58, father of Gong Sing, told the police the bullets of gunmen had been intended for him, as he and not his son is a member of the On Leong tong. The younger man he said, does not belong to any Chinese organization. Gong Sing is in a hospital with five bullets in his body.

Chin Jack Lem, of Cleveland and Chicago, called by authorities the "most dangerous tongman at large," continued to occupy the spotlight among Asiatic leaders of the feud and their corps of legal counsel. He was captured here as a fugitive under indictment at Cleveland in an attempted $75,000 blackmail scheme, and as a fugitive from Chicago, who put up $10,000 bail on the Cleveland charge and then came to New York incognito to take command.

STOCK MARKET RISE UNCHECKED

Eighty-two New High Records Are Established in Yesterday's Trading.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Stock prices pressed irresistibly forward yesterday in a market which appeared to be revitalized by the Thanksgiving holiday rest. Ignoring the traditions of slackening activity during a holiday season and the usual deterrent effects of higher money rates, trading increased in velocity despite the absence of many brokers for the full week-end and a rise in the call money rate to 4 per cent, the highest since last May.

Eighty-two new high records for the year were established on a turn over of approximately 2,400,000 shares a volume of business exceeded only three times since election day. Bullish demonstrations were conducted vigorously in all sections of the list reaching their maximum intensity in representative industrial issues, which surged upward under the leadership of United States Steel. At the close the price average of this group was at a new high mark for the year.

In supplanting the rank in public favor the industrial shares responded to the improved outlook for all different classes of business, including the steel, motor, chemical, copper, rubber, food and merchandising fields.

Railroad reports also showed a tangible basis for a restoration of business confidence. Individual October earnings statements continued to reveal large gains, a compilation of the first 41 roads showing an aggregate net of about $81,000,000 as compared with $77,000,000 for the same roads in September and $65,000,000 in October, 1923.

Pearl Fishers Skim Waters of River

STRATHYRE, Eng., Nov. 29.—Fresh water pearl fishers may be seen daily at work in the waters of the river Balvaig, seeking the mussel shells that occasionally conceal pearls.

They use a tin can, with the bottom removed and a glass substituted, for locating the shells in the river bed, and a long V-shaped stick at one end for bringing the shells to the surface. Occasionally a gem of value is obtained, one such recently was old to a jeweler for $100.

THAT co-operation means success. Only those cities with a spirit of co-operation can look to the future with courage.

THAT citizens must have faith: faith in themselves, their neighbors, and their city. If they don't (they will be out of tune and the home city will suffer.

THAT a city must not wait for prosperity to come to it, but must go out with real co-operation and bring it in.

THAT with easy-going methods, no city will go far. The only way a city can go ahead is for its citizens to work unselfishly and earnestly to make it better commercially and industrially.

THAT activity and co-operation go hand-in-hand, and all should help to foster and develop better co-operation so all may prosper.

THAT good times are ahead for the city that grasps the opportunities that are ahead of them. All citizens will profit in proportion to the service they give.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—When Congress passed the law putting regulation of the meat packers and stockyards in the hands of the department of agriculture back in 1921, it set in motion the wheels that put Howard M. Gore, farmer and stockman of Clarkburg, West Virginia, into President Coolidge's cabinet.

For Gore came to Washington as a member of the packer and stockyard administration.

In that job he demonstrated such thoroughgoing familiarity with farm problems and such ability as an administrator and arbitrator that when C. W. Pugley resigned as assistant secretary in September, 1923, President Coolidge stepped him up into that post as assistant to Secretary Wallace.

His record as assistant secretary was such that Coolidge now names him as head of the department, following Wallace's death.

It is not unlikely that Gore would have served in the Coolidge cabinet through the next four years had he not been elected to the governorship of West Virginia, beginning next March. His term in the cabinet is because of this, limited to a little over three months.

Like Coolidge when he came to the presidency, Gore is not an organization man. When he announced his candidacy for the governorship he won't any more on the inside with the G. O. P. powers in his state than Coolidge was nationally when President Harding's death stepped him into the White House. Perhaps that fact has created a bond between them.

But just as Coolidge, as president, was able to take over control of the G. O. P. machinery, nationally, and revamp it to suit his own ideas, so may Gore, as governor, overhaul the Republican machine in his home state.

As an outsider in his race for the Republican nomination for governor, Gore was nicknamed "The Lone Wolf." Old-timers smiled a bit at his presumption in bucking the organization choice for the office.

But as a farmer in West Virginia, though Gore never had laid any political fences, he had built a hog-tight corral into which to round up a personal following of West Virginia farm folks, old and young.

He had for years been a booster for and worker in the boys' and girls' farm clubs.

He was an expert judge of live stock, and at county and state fairs had handed out red, white and blue ribbons to hundreds of proud exhibitors.

He had stimulated state pride in agricultural achievement by hitting the top of the New York market each year with his fatted lambs, and by turning out annually 1200 head or so of fat Hereford steers for the English market.

When the vote was counted it was found Gore's farmer friends had put "The Lone Wolf" over the top for the nomination, and on November 4th, they turned the trick again and elected him.

Whereupon his nickname was changed overnight to the "The Miracle Man."

A STOCKY, round headed, smooth-faced man of 46, Gore looks just the sort of "common-sense" individual Coolidge would prefer at the head of the department of agriculture.

That he can apply common-sense, his friends say, was demonstrated some years ago when he was preparing to buy several hundred additional head of steers for fattening.

His mother, with whom he lives in Clarkburg, his wife being dead, remarked at the increasing numbers of jobless men applying at the kitchen door for a "handout."

Gore put two and two together and got the right answer.

Increasing number of jobless men meant a decreasing market for fancy beefsteaks.

If the market was going off there'd be no money in buying cattle to feed. So he didn't buy.

And the slump in the market that soon followed didn't catch him long on high-priced steers.

VOCATIONAL PROGRAM IS NEED OF HOUR

Essential Adjustment In Public Education Subject of Talk.

TEACHING STAFF

Want Corps of Research Men To Prevent Retardation, If Not Stagnation of Our Civilization.

PADUCAH, Ky., Nov. 29.—(AP)—More than two million ideas have been patented in the United States during the last 50 years. G. I. Rums, state director of vocational education, declared in an address on essential adjustments in public education. He spoke before the fifth district meeting of vocational educators.

"As a salt man has perhaps progressed further during the period than in the previous ten thousand years of history," the speaker said. "We have harnessed steam and electric power, have discovered the hydro-electric generator, the telephone, the telegraph, the wireless, the radio, have enlarged our printing press; developed the auto, the auto truck, the tractor, the aerial plane, the phonograph, the typewriter, the motion picture, and have developed the skyscraper. If all a man does is to live and die, he is a failure.

"The world is a new place, and the greatest of all adjustments developed for the purpose of eliminating war and creating an efficient, political, thought, the League of Nations. Modern industry has turned its construction in the direction of the vertical. Great schemes of distribution have been devised and perfect great highways and trunk lines are handling our transportation problems. In fact, young men in almost every walk of life are rushing forward to assume the responsibility of further development of our civilization.

"Likewise, standards of living have advanced in increasing our necessities and multiplying our wants. At present, we are not only carefully considering our direct necessities but are thinking in terms of planes, electric washers, fireless cookers, modern homes, a large amount of leisure time and luxuries as well. In a comparatively short space of time we have so increased our wages and profits that we have assumed the attitude of a rich people."

Farming is the biggest single business in America, Prof. Barnes said, adding that in the nation there are six and one-half million farms. "In our own civil unit there are 275,000 farms," he said. "Most of these are operated by people who have had but little training for the responsibilities they are assuming. In the nation seventeen percent of the people are engaged in agriculture."

It means, while in our state 2 percent are thus engaged. The one has just when one can gain. Special training is necessary. We cannot expect to have of our youth as the backbone of the nation unless an extension is made to provide education sufficient to spread, from this large group, who enter this vocational training, there are about 275 high schools in the state which should maintain departments of agriculture, and complete instruction. There are over 200 high schools maintaining one to three year courses, but even these facilities must be greatly enlarged if the prosperity of the greatest of all our industries is to attain.

Prof. Barnes gave as his summary: "I truly believe that a large corps of research men is necessary to prevent the retardation, if not the stagnation of our civilization. I believe a large corps of well-trained teachers is necessary to disseminate new information and to develop the potentialities of youth."

"Since no nation can obtain long with a large portion of its population untrained in life, I believe that a definite vocational program is essential."

The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth is in demand in an exigency of the hour, according to G. Ivan Barnes, state director of vocational training, in an address. He spoke for an enlarged research program.

"The exigency of the hour demands a large corps of research men for the purpose of exploring, discovering, and making applicable new information," he said. "Modern tendencies in world progress demand this of public education."

"Where there is no research man there should be a hundred in our great universities, and particularly in this so in our own state university. Without the impetus of new facts our civilization will, of necessity, become retarded if not stagnant."

Manila Shelters Russian Royalty

MANILA, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Illia Morometz, one of the Russian vessels which arrived in Manila Bay a year and a half ago under Admiral Stark, has been sold to a local transportation company, leaving only two out of the 11 vessels in the original fleet which came from Vladivostok with more than 800 Russian refugees. The others have been sold to concerns here or in China. The company will use the Illia Morometz, which is a high-powered tug, in towing work in Philippine waters.

Only 40 of the original 800 refugees who came with the fleet remain in the Philippines, the others, including Admiral Stark, having departed for various countries. Some 600 were taken to the United States on the army transport Mackinac more than a year ago, and others from time to time have gone to Shanghai. Admiral Stark left only a few days ago for France, where he expects to make his home and possibly enter business. He and his followers belong to the old monarchical regime, and at present are not welcome in their native land.

some 11,000 Sudanese and six thousand Egyptian troops. The latter are now virtually all withdrawn and it had been proposed to convert the Sudanese troops into a sort of military police. It is suggested here that today's trouble might be connected with the men taking a new oath to the British sovereign. In any event, as long as Egypt itself remains quiet little apprehension will be felt regarding the Sudan, because the Sudanese are more opposed to Egyptian sovereignty than to that of the British.

Jesse F. Stanley Is In Bad Accident

Jesse F. Stanley, past owner of the Stanley and McCarty tin shop was badly injured this morning at 7:00 o'clock on the railroad crossing leading to the Victor Coal company mines which are situated five miles north of Middlesboro.

He was driving his Ford coupe and as he came on the tracks he kept his attention on a car which was rapidly approaching. When the car disappeared he attempted to cross the track. As his own car was half way across the track an engine coming from the opposite direction from which the other one had passed caught him squarely smashing the coupe to slivers.

Stanley had the presence of mind to lift himself by one hand upon the engine as it passed thus saving himself from being run over by the wheels.

Dr. T. T. Gibson made a complete examination of the injured man and reports that unless internal injuries develop which are not apparent now that recovery is certain.

PRICE OF OCEAN TRAVEL REDUCED

Steamship Companies Offering Great Bargain to Those Who Wish to Travel Cheaply.

BREMEN, Nov. 29.—(AP).—New York society women who travel with maids and poodles, and countless wardrobe trunks 'are no longer besieged by agents for steamship lines as they used to be in days when there were plenty of storage passengers.

But times have changed. American immigration laws have made it impossible for passenger agents to fill the holds of steamers with European emigrants bound for America, and the resourceful agents have been forced to find passengers of another type to fill the 'space' which emigrants used to monopolize.

The cabin ship, that is, the ship in which the first and second class accommodations were all thrown together and sold at second-class rates, was the first venture to the tourists of limited means, and now the steamship lines are offering still greater bargains to persons who want to see Europe economically. Third-class accommodations on many of the lines have been improved so they are as good as the old second class rooms, and special sections of the steerage are set aside for students, teachers, professional men and other cultured persons who prefer to economize on steamship fare and spend their money 'in travel or study on the continent.

Lightweight King Was House Painter

PARIS, Nov. 28 (AP)—In 1911 Vinez, who won the European lightweight championship, is 29 years old and has had a rather rocky road to the top of the European heap. He has been fighting for 11 years, meeting, the best lightweights here, never earning knockout but always winning by decision.

Never popular with the boys, fans because of a peculiar style of combined attack and defense, he has never fought a fight like a house painter, by trade he worked at it until five or three years ago when he began to pick up his brush and the very next morning after he had beat the gloves.

Like Crigoli he is a product of Belleville, the slums of Paris and like the former featherweight champion of the world he has remained modest and unsung.

The day after his victory over Brettonne, one of his Belleville friends, Le Vinez, whether he could recommend a painter colleague who would give him a new coat of paint.

Cheapest possible Lucien, a womanhood friend, you know I am not very rich.

Don't worry about that, I'll answer the new European lightweight champion. I'll do it for myself and it won't cost you a cent more.

ENGLISH THINK BASEBALL IS BEASTLY BORE

Sport Scribes Report
Baseball in Terms of Cricket.

PITY THE BATTER

It is Very Doubtful If English Will Ever Accept Our National Pastime as They Think It "Bunk."

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—When the first Giants and White Sox played their first exhibition baseball game in London this month, some of the newspapers sent their golf reporters out to do the story of the proceedings. Most of the journals, however, conferred the assignment upon their cricket writers. It was in the nomenclature of cricket that all of them reported to the populace upon what they had seen.

Each and every one of them pitied the poor batter because his bat was so small and the fielders' gloves so large. One writer compared the bat to a broomstick, and the gloves to snot-pudding able to absorb every ball that came within reach.

But what most struck the British reporters in this "unfairness of the allocation of the armor" was the catcher's "coat of mail" and the umpire's "triple waddling around the chest." Only the batsman was subject to complete disarmament.

The Manchester Guardian reporter found baseball monotonous, and the veteran golf chronicler of the Morning Post adjudged it a slow game, bravely setting down that opinion in full expressed the knowledge that there is no more certain way to make an American really angry. The game that one of them found monotonous and the other slow, was won with a ninth inning rally, and among its fielding performances had been a triple play.

Nearly all of the British reporters expressed admiration for the fielding end of baseball, the speed and accuracy of the running, catching and throwing appealed to them greatly. But the batting, and especially the laws governing foul balls, failed to impress them as very interesting. One man seemed grieved to learn that the batter not only misses as many as he hits, but that when he connects he is hampered by a rule which makes all strokes to the right of mid-off or the left of mid-off technically foul. Mid-off and mid-on are cricket field markings comparable to the third and first base lines. The writer seemed to be further distressed by the fact that "the area within which the batter can make a counting shot is inconveniently plastered with fieldsmen, who are so fast and efficient that they rarely missed anything reachable, and as rarely throw a yard wide of their mark."

This business of foul and fair balls tempted more than one reporter to steep his pen in a flood of words. "All of the hitting has to be done well in front of the wicket," wrote one. "Anything that goes in cricketers' language, towards point or square-leg or behind the wicket does not count. The result is that the achievement of

Marion Pays Its Respects to Former "First Lady"

The little city of Marion, O., sorrowfully turned out to pay its respects to the memory of Mrs. Warren G. Harding. Not since the death of her illustrious husband, the late president, had there been such a display of genuine grief in Marion. Hundreds filed past the flower-banked bier in the home of Mrs. Frank J. Longshore, niece of the former "First Lady."

Insulted?

"Take these darn things off or I'll put you in jail!" That's what Chief of Police J. M. Youngblood of Rock Hill, S. C., told Miss Willie Trammell, 22-year-old stenographer, when she appeared on the streets in a "blue knicker suit." At least that's the story she told the city council. And she announced she intended filing $70,000 suit against the officer on the ground he insulted her.

scoring is excessively difficult because the fielders, armed with snot-pudding gloves, can be relied on to stop or catch everything that comes to them, and the round which the batting side must cover is a very large one. The only hope is to slog the ball out of the grounds."

That the Giants and White Sox will succeed in their aim of implanting baseball in Great Britain no native believes. To the majority of the English it seems to be a slow, monotonous game. It does not last three days like a cricket match and with several hundred runs and time out for tea and lunch. But nevertheless and notwithstanding, they do find it slow.

VIRGINIA

TO COMMEMORATE HISTORIC EVENT

To Celebrate on Anniversary of Surrender of Lord Cornwallis, English General.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 29.

A sesquicentennial celebration to observe the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to General George Washington at Yorktown, Virginia, is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Newport News, and planned to take place in 1924. It was on October 19, 1781, that Cornwallis surrendered, beginning of the independence of which action terminated the Revolutionary War and marked the beginning of the independence of the thirteen original colonies.

The proposed plans included the depicting of the early days of the colonies, scenes leading up to the surrender, with participation by the national government and the states, the army and navy, the French and British navies and exhibits by historical societies.

At the present time, statements approving the proposed plan of the Newport News Kiwanis Club to celebrate the sesquicentennial of the most significant event in American history, have been received from the President of the United States, from United States Congressmen and Senators, from governors of states, from the British Embassy, from the French President and also from the French Bureau of Information in this country, from educators and from scores of civic, religious, patriotic, historical, fraternal, educational and commercial organizations.

Bills have already been introduced in Congress, and a commission has been appointed, to look into the advisability of the national government acquiring a large area in and around Yorktown which will include the battlefield occupied by the American, British and French armies at the time of Cornwallis' surrender, and to convert this area into a national park. The suggestion of the Newport News Kiwanis Club is that this commission plan to have the Yorktown National Park ready for occupancy by the time of the celebration of the sesquicentennial of the surrender, and that the dedication ceremonies of the Yorktown National Park form part of the Sesquicentennial Celebration.

It is proposed to have introduced in the coming session of Congress a bill which will provide for an appropriation of at least $50,000,000 to cover the expenses of the national government's participation in the celebration. The state government and organizations, particularly the Kiwanis Club, are making appropriations to help in the celebration. It is also proposed to issue a special design of postage stamp to be issued, which will give the celebration nation-wide publicity and attract visitors from distant states.

Black Panné Velvet

There's a classic simplicity and a hint of sophistication, too, about this "dainty gown" of black panne velvet. The drape is uncomplicated by any other form of trim, and the very wide neckline is one of its distinctly new touches. The black changes absolutely overnight.
